PERRY VS. GRANT.

ANOTHER VERSION OF THE DIFFI-The following is the correct account of the difficulty which occurred a day or two since between Captain Grant and Mr. R. Ross Perry:

On Monday last Judge Wylin passed a decree in the case of Carter vs. Grant in the Equity Court, appointing Mesers, Lewis B. Pierce and E. Ross Parry, trustees, to sell the houses known as Grant's row, on Capitol Hill, supposed to be worth in the market about $250,000. The claims of the judgment creditors, who are plaintiffs, amounts to more than $4.500. Mr. Perry drew up the decree and went to the office of Gen. Henkie, Grant's connect, to submit it to him before having it signed by the judge. Captain Grant was in the office at the time, and without provocation from Mr. Perry, or a word from him, applied to him directly the most offensive and insulting language. Mr. Perry did not reply, but said to Gen. Henkie that this man was his (Henkie's) ellent, and he ought to control him in his office. This tien. Henkie attempted to do, but did not succeed. Captain Grant repeated the offensive language, and then Mr. Perry struck him a blow in the face, knocking him backward. Capt. Grant then retreated to the further end of the room, placing the deek between him and Mr. Perry, and then renewed his abuse, tanking it more offensive. Mr. Purry then selsed a heavy armehair and threw it across the desk at Capt. Grant, who was either struck by it and knocked back, rth in the market about $250,000. who was either struck by it and knocked back, or spraing back to avoid it. Recovering himself, Captain Grant drow a ravolver, and took deliberate aim at Mr. Perry with it. Mr. Perry being unable to throw up Captain Grant's arm on account of the intervening deck, and being entirely anarmed, thought it the most prudent course to get out of the room as quick as possible, which he did.

[The above is from the friends of Mr. Perry.—Ep.]

Well, then, come nit down here and I will tell you what to do. You know we reporters find out a thing or two. I dropped into the Malaga Fruit Company's store yesterday, and while look ing around at their attractive display of fruit, ac., I heard that mustached gentleman and another one, gray-headed, talking:

"It is no mee to hold thum. They are designed for heliday process, and we might as well sail at cost rather than keep them."

"It don't make any difference if others do sell theze image gartum of raising at 2.50. Better sell at 4.175, and not raises that it offered. These large jars of French preserves at all each, and those French glass fruit count up so fast (about 1200 in so small a pile) that they will be oversessed. They cost about 75 cents per pound. I guess they wall sell in the five and skx-pound borns at 30 cents per pound; won't they," and these from boxes—let them go at any price offered in them. Better roduce stock by selling low—French prance in easy, cartons and loose; Guava jeil; and marmalade, clive ell, sardines, shadines, e.g., for as the spring advances into will be to much taken up with fruit it wont be accounty to have much of these things on hand."

"My the way, what will be done with all those hose designs will be wanted to dress the carbor and these hose passes will be wanted to dress the tables at treapsions, and fruit baskets to fill with our choice fruit for presents." "How many California paars are lett in the cellar!" EVANGELICAL ALLIANCE.

THE TEMPERANCE QUESTION DIS-CUSSED.

WARRINGTON, D. C., Dec. 25, 1874.

To the Editor of the Sational Republicans:
Sim: I noticed among the business matters at the meeting of the Evangelical Alliance, held at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association yesterday, that a motion by the Rev. Dr. Tiffany, to insert "suppression of the evils of in-temperance" among the topics for prayer the ensuing week, was voted down. When, Mr. Editor, suing week, was voted down. When, Mr. Editor, the clergymen of our city "go back" on the temperance question, to use a vulgarism, what can be expected of the common people? I am sure if the reverend gentlessen could have heard the comments that I have heard to-day upon their strange and, to me, inconsistent action, they would not feel elasted over their course. In your paper to-day, Mr. Editor, you referred to the drunkesness that prevailed upon Christmas, and what you said was true; for I shink it will be universally conceded that there was more drunkesness the last Christmas than at any preceding one. Your srticle, therefore, was timely. To have this wet blanket from the ministerial association of our city immediately following Christmas, and announced in the same issue of your paper with said temperance article, is certainly lamentable. Still further. Some time since I listened to a sermon by Dr. Sunderland, in which he took the peculiar view that temperance organization; and laws of any kind, circulating the piedge, and all such sort of work, he did not believe in, but that prayer was the only specific against the great evil. Now, forecoth, the reverend gentleman objects to having it prayed for. Is the arm of the Lord shortened, that he cannot save? Does the Dector limit the power of prayer Let me thank the Rev. Dr. Tiffany for the motion that he made to insert the cisase I have referred te—"suppression of the evils of intemperance", but which, upon motion and objection of Dr. Sunderland, was defeated.

Do the ciergymen by this deliberate action concede that intemperance is past praying for, or that the clergymen of our city "go back" on the tem

Do the clergymen by this deliberate action con-Do the corregimen by this deliberate action con-cede that intemperance is past praying for, or that praying for any moral reform is merely a matter of form? I understand that in the topics for dis-cussion and for prayer in past years intemperance has always had a place. Is there not more need this year than ever for earnest, prayerful efforts to stay the tidal wave of intemperance that seems to be sweeping over us?

"Ann Chase, of Tamploo, born January 14, 1837,
in the city of Londonderry, Province of Ulster, Ireland, Emigrated to the United States in June, 1932.

"The New York Tribums publishes the following obituary of Mrs. Chase:

"The death of Mrs. Ann Chase, wife of the Hos. Franklin Chase, late United States (consul General at Tamploo, last week, in Brooklyn, has brought to mind insidents of a "smarkable cawer. She was born of Frotestant parenta, in the North of Ireland, in 1862. In 1818 she lost her father, and the widow, with the children, emigrated to the United States in 1822, and settled in Philadelphia, where the cluster on specify established a sincessful mercantile Dusiness.
His lister Ann refused to be supported in iclemass, and finished stating her brother by kesping his books. In this way she became versed in mercantile affairs, and fitted for the public station, which she subsequently aderned, In 1832, with her brother, she removed to New Orleans, and thence, in August, 1854, to Tampleo, where she became acquainted with Rir. Chase, to whom she'was frarried in 1839.

"In 1846, during the Sections war, on account of his official character as United States consul.
Mr. Chase war compelled to leave the city of Tamploo, but with his concurrence Mrs. Chase remained to protect the Government property, the recorded of the consummation and her husband draped her consults, and declared that no one should touch that fing except over her dead hody. With revolver in hand, she defed them.
That flag had such proceless value in her memory that also never partied with it, and her husband draped her consummation.

"In hence of Mrs. Chase's agency in this important event, and as a token of their appreciation of her herolism, the army named the fortress of the city before its consummation.

"In hen "In honor of Mrs. Chase's agency in this important event, and as a toxen of their appreciation of her heroism, the army named the fortress of the city Fort Ann, and the ladies of New Orlesons presented to her a service of plate. Mrs. Chase remained in Tampico as her residence until 1871, when her husband resigned his position and took up his abode in Brooklyn. During the many years of her residence in Tampico Mrs. Chase dispensed with great liberality a gracious hospitality to all Americans who visited that city in naval, military or civil life. Upon her last voyage home to the United States a little child stumbled and fell over the hatchway of the steamer. With characteristic bravery and forgetfulness of self, Mirs. Chase sprang to the rescue, and succeeded in saving the life of the child—as swents proved, at the expense of her own, for she then received an injury, which was diregarded by her at the time, which produced cancer of the breast, of which she died. Although her suffering were intense, she never murmured, and when informed that an operation had become necessary, she said she was ready, and, refusing assesthetics, submitted without flinching, although the operation was unusually prolonged."

MENTS TO NIGHT. MENTS TO NIGHT.

In accordance with the time-bonored custom midnight services will be held to-night in the Methodist churches, and the old year will be watched out and the new in. These services are generally of a very interesting character, and are attended by large congregations. Those who are not of a religious turn of mind resort to other means of welcoming the new year by attending balls, or remaining at their homes, and having watch meetings to themselves.

The various associations of the District wing give balls to slight, complements among which are the West End Ritbernian Benevolent, New York Espublican, Caledonia club and the Spiritualists. The two councils of the Sons of Jonadabs will hold their usual annual midinght services, when those members who have remained true to their pledges will recolligate, which is done with a ceremony peculiar to their Order. LIGHTEEN OF AMERICA'S FINEST VUCALISTS AT CONGREGATIONAL CHUECH, JANUARY 4, 5 AND 5. TRUE TO HIS FLAG.

The following incident, which has not yet appeared in print, is related of the late Commander William B. Cushing. It is another evidence of his personal disregard of danger when the honor his personal disregard of danger when the honor of the flag of his country was at stake. One evening as the boat which was conveying him to the shore in a South American port had just made her landing, a boat in which was a Spanish colonal, who was so his way to attend a court matial, rowed up, and seeing that Cushing's boat had or was about to scoure a place at the steps, he ordered his carenen to row inside and dislodge the American from his position, which was done very casily, as such an ungestiemanly sot was unexpected by the latter.

This was an insult to his flag that the hero of casily, as such an ungestiemanly act was unexpected by the latter.

This was an insuit to his fing that the hero of the Albemarie could not brook. As soon as his boat again made her landing he jumped out, the Spanish colonel in the meantime being well on his way to where the court met, and followed the man who had by his order offered the insuit to the flag. On he went, alone and unaided, until he reached the court-martial room, into which he entered unannounced and gazed with those dauntiess eyes of his on the whole court in session. After they had recovered from their surprise at seeing a stranger in their midst Oommander Cushing pointed to the man who had acted in such an ungallant manner a short time before and told them that he should take the consequences or apologize for the insult offered.
He it said to the credit of the other members of the court that they fully agreed that their coihe it said to the credit of the other members of the court that they fully agreed that their col-league had done wrong. The consequence was that the offender made an abject apology to the gallant Cushing and his fellow-members of the court-martial for acting in such a manner, and the former withdrew, feeling that he had once more vindicated the honor of the fing that had abeltered him from his cradie to his grave.

NATIONAL THEATRE-DEBORAH-ME DEA-JANAUSCHEE

A fuil house was gathered last night at the National, such as the announcement of Janauschek's Deborah always brings out. It is a play always delighted in by all who have ever see the great actress in the wonderful voic of the grand-scaled Jewess. The hights and deeps of human passions are reached therein by Jananschek's matchless powers of imagination and delineation. The several and almost unprecedentedly united gifts of gentus which in this poeriess are all called into action in the course of the pastionate changes of this play. Her voice, so singularly perfect in the range of tones, and so unequaled in compass, expresses, as no either voice, the fullness and extent of feeding.

In the curse scene the is always unapproachable, always beyond criticism, always complete in her control of every and and heart present, and faw dry eyes ever witness the conclusion of the last beautiful scene of farewell. Elstori is an intellectual queen, and Rachel was a power that wayed the hearts of audiences to every change of her farery genius, but Janauschek has done more than all her predecessors and cotemporaries.

more than all her predecessors and cotemporaries.

She has seized upon the feelings and the prejudices and the tongues of different nations with the unbound farces of her all comprehending falent. In our own tongue, spoken as ne living elecutionist could teach it, as ne singer could medulate its words, she interprets for us the grandest tragic creations of the ancient and modorn masters of "divine tragedy." As she is Deborah, as she brings to life hiary Stunrt from her worful fate and denth, and she waiks the minuic stage the vivid likeness of Elizabeth, so she induce with a vitality as startling and terrible, as grand and unparalleled, the old creation of the tragic poet of Greece, and, when as Media, januaschek appears in the flowing robes of the heredne who added Jasonin his quest of the golden fiesce—a heroine—by the grace of immortal hereine who sided Jasen in his quest of the gold fiesce—a heroine—by the grace of immori genius for scholars of all time, the giorious git which fire the eye and lift the stature of Janas scheek to the hight of tragedy itself summor up in her presence the vertiable Medes, dee feeling, all-daring, all-doing, grand and us dying. That immortal son of Athen whose genius first conceived the character of Medes, could be be present at the National to night, would see in Janauschek's assumption the mighty picture that fired his brain. MLLE, EMMA ALBANI.

For the first time in Washington Mile. Albani, the new American prima donna, will slog at Lin-coln hall, in grand concert, on the evening of the th of January. NEW YEAR'S AT THE NATIONAL THE ATRE. AT 2 o'clock New Year's afternoon a grand special performance of "Cinderella" will be given at the National, with the pepular young favorite, Miss May Gallagher, as the fairy queen, will be supported by a fine cast. The see and appointments of the play will be perfect, an extra-grand gala day may be suitelpated.

THE THEATRE COMIQUE. At the Comique an extra performance will be given New Year's afternoon. The houses here are nightly crowded. The merit and talent of ROSE AND HARRY WATKINS.

Friday and Saturday afternoons and nights Rose and Harry Watkins, the celebrated drama-tic stars, will occupy Odd Fellows' hall and produce "His Worst Enemy; or, the Angel Child," In this great moral drams, dedicated to the holy office of suppressing the vice of intemperance, little Amy Lee will bear a prominent part. This play has met, wherever produced, a most deserved Success. Tickets for sale at Eilis. ADELAIDE PRILLIPPS

Miss Adelaide Phillipps has signified her purpose of withdrawing from the stage at the close of the present season. There is a plan in Boston for a series of farewell operatic sutertainments by Miss Phillipps, with proper support, previous to her retirement to private life. The loss to the stage of this superior contraits, excellent acress and estimable lady will be one that the people throughout the country will greatly regter. JACKSON DEMOCRATIC ASSO

PREPARATIONS BEING MADE FOR A GRAND JUBILEE MEETING. A special meeting of the Jackson Democratic association was held last night at Saugerbund hall; John E. Norris, esq., in the chair and Dr. Allen secretary.

James L. Marshall, John Bligh, Gwynn Harris, Wm. T. Dore, J. N. Trock and John W. Oallins were elected to membership.

Mr. E. S. Davis inquired what was the proposed expenses of the marting to be held on the School expenses of the meeting to be held on the can January.

Dr. Allen, from the committee of arrange-ments, thought it would be about $500. The half rent was $75, music $75, and the decorations and autorialnment of the speakers coming from a disments, thought it would be about $600. The half rent was $15, music $15, and the decorations and entertainment of the speakers coming from a distance would cover the other $150.

Mr. Davis thought the sum could be raised without instituting a general begging system, and he suggested the opening of a subscription and the rester the same said. This yas done and the following subscribed June. R. Norris, $15; Columbus Alexander, $20; Capt. Goddard, $10; R. S. Davis, $10; G. F. Stewart, $40; Mr. C. P. Oulver, $5; Dr. Culver, $5; T. V. Noonan, $5; Judge Moore, $6; Hr. Allen, $5, and C. Pettit, $1.

Mr. Davis was satisfied that if they would solicit aid among the old Democrats in the city the money could be raised, for there was secough in town to collect it from.

The resignation of Mr. Henry S. Davis as treasurer was presented and accepted, and Mr. Jesse B. Wilson choosen to fill the vacancy.

The finance committee was lorerased by the addition of the following members: C. P. Culver, F. B. Culver, H. S. Davis, John C. Cook, J. J. Combs, W. W. Kirby, E. Hammersiy, Jos. Hamlin, T. V. Noonan and G. E. Kirk. The president was also added.

Mr. C. P. Culver in a few appropriate and equogistic remarks announced the sodien and unexpected demise of Dr. Thomas G. Clayton, and offered the following:

**Reroleved**, That in the death of Dr. Thomas G. Clayton this association has lost an honerable member, seedely a good and ponceable citizen, the Church a faitful and exemplary member, and his surviving sons a kind, aftectionate and indulgent father.

Smillar remarks were made by Judge Moore, John E. Norris, Dr. Allen, R. S. Davis and others, siter which the resolution was adopted.

The association them adjourned.

FIRE. THE BODY OF A MAN FOUND IN THE RUINS. Shortly after midnight an alarm was turned in from box 29, caused by fire being discovered in a two-story brick stable in the alley between E and P and Sixth and Seventh streets northwest, and F and Sixth and Seventh streets northwest, occupied by the horses belonging to the Interior Department and private team of Gen. E. P. Smith, Indian Commissioner. The scene of the fire was in a thickly-built-up section of the city, and the strong wind prevailing gave fear to the residents of that locality that the flames would spread and result in a serious confisquation. Fortunately the high buildings about the stable protected it from the wind, and the flames were confined to the stable alone. Within the stable were ten horses, four wagons and several sets of hances, which were all asiely removed. The crigin of the fire is unknown, but supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

For some reason the alarm was not announced promptity, neither did the department respond with that alacrity and get into operation with that wiftness that sweally characterize their movements. Box 29, at the corner of Seventh and Estreets, had been sounded four times, and no indications made by the striking of the bells to show that it had been seened four times, and no indications made by the striking of the bells to show that it had been seened four times, and no indications made by the striking of the bells to show that it had been seened four times, and no indications made by the striking of the bells to show that it had been seened four times, and no indications was given. When the engines arrived on the ground there was some delay in getting water on the fire, and the pace all not work with that system and precision of action generally exhibited by them an such consistent. Matt was the

on the fire, and the men did not work with that system and precision of action generally arhitted by them on such occasions. What was the cause for these delays is unknown, but the department was certainly not compilmented for its efficiency last night.

After the dismes had been extinguished, and while a survey of the scene of the ruins was being made, the fireman came across the body of a man burned almost to a crisp and beyond recogtion. The head was resting on the north window sill, and indicated that he was making an effort to escape when the fiames overtook him. From information cilcited of those competent to know, it is believed that the remains are those of Geo. Carter, colored, who has for some time past been employed as a heatler by the Interior Department, and who slept in the upper part of the stable.

The teachers of the colored schools will be paid at the Sumner building at 8 o'clock this morning, and the teachers of the public schools of Washand the teachers of the public schools of WashIngton, Georgetown and the county at Franklin

LETTER FROM ANNAPOLIS.

[Correspont ence of the National Republican,] ANNAPOLIS, December 29, 1874.
This community was shocked to-day by the sudden death of James R. Howison, esq., which suden death of James R. Howison, esq., which occurred at his residence about II o'clock this morning, it is supposed from heart disease. The deceased had been sick for some time, but was often out of the house, and his death was most unexpected. Air. Howison was a native of Petersburg. Va., and came to this city as a clerk for the secretary of the Naval Academy under the administration of Captain Franklin Buchanan. Before this he was a clerk to one of the surveying boards. He was at one time recorder of Ar. Ing boards. He was at one time recorder of Annapolis. He was a member of the State convention that framed the constitution of 1897. In 1871 he ran as the Democratic candidate for mayor of this piace, but, after a sharp contest, was defeated fifteen voices by the incumbent of the UMBER. The deseased was aged about fifty-fly years, and, at the time of his death, was both a years, and, at the true of his death, was both a warden and vestryman of St. Anne's Episoopal church. He was a member of the Annapolis bar, but rarely took part in the trial of cases, being mostly engaged in other legal work. The com-munity has jost a valuable and highly-respected citizen.

REPLY TO MAJOR RED PRPPER. To the Editor of the National Republican: Six: Please accept my answer to Major Rad Pepper's conundrum in yours of yesterday. No, no, Major, "all diversion must not be absudened." It is only expedient that i.e "best of us," and those not made too narrow "by the bigatry of our education" to see to it, that our "rad" light, large or small, illumines the path leading to such diversions as will cause permanent eeloyment, "By their fruits," &c. is a safe estimate of all things. Therefore when the influence of the theatre makes as good fathers, sons and citizens as that of the pulpit, when space contiguous to the pulpit is as valuable for the sale of intoxicating drinks as like space near the theatre it will be time enough for the "best and wisest of us" to let our light shine upon the path leading to the latter.

Yours warmly,

C. Arshuum. It is only expedient that the "best of us," and

Yours warmly, C. Arsicum. Washington, December 30, 1874. NATIONAL HOTEL HOP. Last night Mesers. F. Tenney & Co., proprie-ors of the National hotel, gave the use of certain of their rooms to the colored help smployed by them for the purpose of giving a Christmas hop. Not satisfied with giving the necessary space, they furnished a nice supper and drinkables to wash it down. A good band of music was in attendance, and the party enjoyed themselves to their heart's content, and as each palestion responded to the merry strains they thanked the generous proprietors for reviving this old-time custom, and affording them an opportunity of celebrating together the Christmas festivities. On New Year's night the white employees will have their soirce, and anticipate a merry time. The success of last night's entertainment is in a great measure due to Mr. John Langley, the well-known superintendent of the bar, who kindly acted as master of coremonies, and by his attention merited, as he received, the well-deserved thanks of all the participants. of their rooms to the colored help employed by

CITY ITEMS.

IF A MAR WANTS A BOTTLE OF WHISKY IF A MAR WARTS A BOTTLE OF WHIRST bot him him buy it and take it home like a man, and not meak home with a bottle of "Bitters," or "Cordial," and pretend that it is medicine. If he wants a tonic that is something botter than a temporary stimulant, he should get a bottle of Peruvian Syyup, (an Iron Tenfe,) that will vitalize the blood and give durable strength to the system.

SAVE YOUR DOCTOR'S BILLS. When Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry will cure coughs, colds, bleeding at the lungs, and arrest the fell destroyer, Consumption, it does more than most physician can do. The use of a single bottle will natisfy the incredition that they need look no further for the required aid. Fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, large bottles much the cheaper.

will be found to possess those qualities necessary to the total cradication of all billious attacks, prempt to start the secretions of the liver, and give a healthy tone to the entire system. Indeed, it is no ordinary discovery in medical science to have invented a remedy for these stubborn complaints, which develop all the results produced by a herefolder free use of calomei, a mineral justic dreaded by mankind, and schnowledged to be destructive in the extreme to the human system. That the properties of certain regetables comprise all the virtues of calomei without its injurious tendencies, is now an admitted fact, rendered indisputable by scientific researches; and these who use the Skandrake Pilis will be faily satisfied that the best medicines are those provided by nature in the common herbs and roots of the fields.

These pilis open the bowels and correct all billions derangements without salivation or any of the injurious effects of calomei or other poisons. The secretion of this is promoted by these pilis, as will be seen by the altered color of the stools, and disappearing of the sallow complexion and clonning of the tongue.
